

Dimitris Salivaras

Greece

Dimitrios Salivaras, co-owner of Multichrom.lab holds a degree in Food Science & Human Nutrition from the Aegean University of Greece.

He has been trained in sensory evaluation of olive oil in technical and theoretical courses in Greece, Italy, and in Spain and in 2016 completed the 4-month advanced course "Titulo De Experto En Cata De Aceites De Oliva Virgenes"(Expert in Tasting Virgin Olive Oils) at the University of Jaen in Spain on an IOC grant.

He has also completed the "International Master for EVOO Taster and Olive Expert" by O'live Italy and the "Technical Course for Aspiring Olive Oil Tasters" – 2014, by O.N.A.O.O. Imperia, Italy. He has also participated in seminars regarding agricultural technical production procedures. In 2017, he became panel leader of organoleptic assessment teams after completing IOC relevant seminar in Izmir, (Turkey) again under an IOC grant.

The quality assurance manager of Multichrom and deputy panel leader of its accredited panel, he has served on the panel of the London International Olive Oil Competition" from 2016 to 2019.

Master of Science in Food Chemistry (in progress)

Degree in Food Science & Human Nutrition from the Aegean University of Greece